Note that 120/80 means the highest pressure in the large arteries of the systemic circulation produced during systole is 120 mm Hg and the lowest pressure occurring during diastole in the same vessels is 80 mm Hg. That is, the systolic pressure is 120 mm Hg and the diastolic pressure is 80 mm Hg.